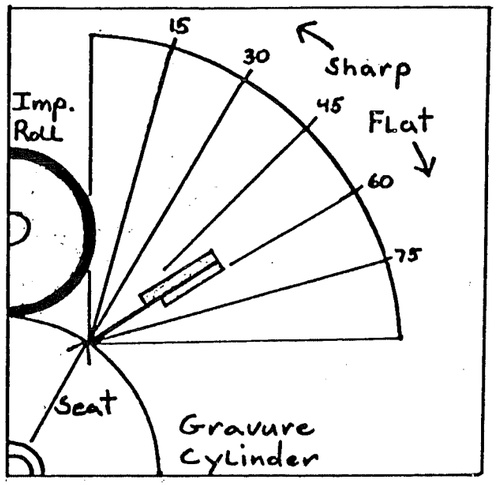
ROLLER ROOM



Your Doctor Blade is a thin sheet of steel that is strong and flexible. It should normally be seated as close to the impression roll as possible. The shorter the mix has to travel on the cylinder, the less chance there is for it to dry before it's printed on the web.

In most cases, the blade is angled so there is a flow of mix behind the blade. This makes the blade self-cleaning.

Sometimes the job will call for the blade wipe to be flat. Small particles can become trapped under the blade and cause scratches. If you are running with a flat angle, watch for lines on the cylinder or in the print. If they appear, raise the rubber and pick up the blade for a moment. This will release the particles and remove the line, saving product and cylinders. If the lines return, the blade may need honing or the mix may need filtering. If the lines continue, consult your supervisor.

BOWLING NEWS

It's bowling time again!! Bowling is one of Dri-Print's more popular sports. Many people come out to participate in this great sport. It also turns out to be a lot of fun because the employees at Dri-Print are generally a fun-loving group. These people are not out there only for the sport or the exercise, they're out there because they know they're going to have a terrific time.

Some of the bowlers are quite good with high games of over 200 and series as high as 550. Aside from the awards for high game and high series, there is also an award for the most inproved bowler. This is mainly for the average bowler who tries a little harder each week to raise his/her average.

The Bowling Banquet is another reason why people enjoy bowling. After a long season of highs and lows, good days and bad days, everyone looks forward to an enjoyable evening. Dinner, drinks, awards and reminiscing all contribute to the Banquet which adds a wonderful finishing touch to another successfull bowling season.

Each year new members are signed up for the various teams that need more bowlers. So if you're not bowling this year, go down to Linden Lanes and check it out. Maybe you'll sign up for next year and be part of the fun.

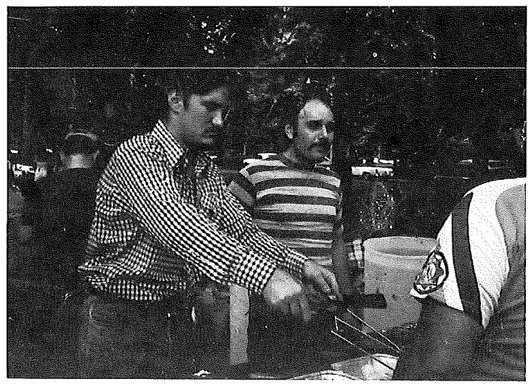
ANOTHER FIRST FOR DRI-PRINT

Dri-Print's First Annual Company Picnic was held on September 8, at the Rahway River Park. This was the first Company event attended by both Union and Non-Union employees; and members of their respective families. The event was co-sponsored by Dri-Print and the employees themselves, who purchased tickets and contributed many man hours in arranging, setting up, and carrying out the schedule of the day.

The day was filled with athletic and sporting events geared to all those attending. Watermelon-eating contests, sprint-races, and three-legged races were conducted for children at various age levels. Prizes and awards were given out to the winners in each event. I think I even saw John Scala and Victor Papke racing for the finish line more than once.



Adults participated in softball games, played horseshoes, threw frisbees, and warmed up with a few soccer balls. The highlight of the afternoon was a softball game between Dri-Print's regulars and a make-up team managed by Corrado Lelli. The make-up team was trying to get revenge for an embarrassing defeat suffered at the hands of the regulars earlier this summer. This time the score was a lot closer, but the result was the same, with the regulars winning 8 to 5. Subsequent softballl games were played by the females and the teenagers at the picnic.

Hundreds of hamburgers, hot-dogs, and clams were consumed during the course of the day. The food was prepared by Joe Howarth and Wayne Chuffo (whose picture appears on this page).

All indications were that the picnic was a great success. Planning for next year's picnic will begin at the beginning of the summer to insure a more favorable location will be available. It is hoped that a larger turn-out will take place next year and that this event will become part of our annual schedule. I would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who was involved in the organizing of the picnic and contributed their time and effort to make it such a great success.

SAFETY - "Back Problems"

Suprisingly - or perhaps not so suprisingly - 20 to 30 percent of the nation's workers' compensation benefits are awarded for occupational back injuries. Much of the problem stems from inadequate lifting technique and poor judgement on the part of the lifter. Following is a NIOSH summary of proper lifting procedures.

READY, SET, LIFT

1) First, size up the load, estimating weight, size and shape. Realistically appraise your ability to handle it.
2) Stand close to the object to be lifted, keeping your feet 8 to 12 inches apart for good balance.
3) Bend the knees to a comfortable position and get a good handhold.
4) Using both leg and back muscles, lift the load straight up. Move smoothly and easily, pushing with your legs and keeping the load close to your body.
5) Lift the object to carrying position. Avoid twisting and turning about until the lift is completed.
6) To turn your body, change foot positions and check to see that your path of travel is clear before moving on.
7) To set the load down, bend the knees using leg and back muscles. When load is securely positioned, release it.

Even correct lifting methods will not entirely thwart back injuries. Individuals should be aware of their physical capabilities and work within them.

ROLF PAPKE Takes Second

Our own Rolf Papke participated in three races recently. Due to a broken propeller and engine failure, two went unfinished. In his second race however, he was running second until he got caught between high waves and was thrown out of his seat. He did manage to take third place in his 24 ft. Superboat at Great South Bay in Patchque.

Rolf plans on selling his boat in order to buy a newer one. If anyone is interested, please contact him.
